Effective Date: 3/22/2025 | Last Updated: 3/22/2025

1. Services Provided

I offer custom programming/scripting services as a sole developer under the name Daxen (also known as Chill Nook). All work will be discussed, quoted, and agreed upon before the project begins. Services may include (but are not limited to): scripting systems, game mechanics, bug fixing, optimization, and consulting.

2. Payment Terms

Payment will be made upfront, partially upfront (with a milestone system), or upon completion, as agreed. Accepted payment method: PayPal. All payments will be discussed in USD or CAD. All prices and quotes are final unless otherwise negotiated before work starts. No refunds once work has begun, unless I am unable to complete the project.

3. Delivery & Revisions

Delivery time will be estimated based on project scope and discussed before starting. Each project includes up to three minor revisions at no extra cost to ensure the final product meets your expectations. Additional or major revisions outside the original agreement may require extra payment.

4. Ownership & Usage Rights

Upon full payment, you receive a non-exclusive license to use, modify, and distribute the delivered code for personal or commercial purposes. I retain the right to showcase non-proprietary aspects of the work in my portfolio. Reselling, redistributing, or claiming the code as your own original work is not permitted unless explicitly agreed upon.

5. Confidentiality

Any confidential information shared during the project will be kept private and not disclosed to third parties.

7. Termination

Either party may cancel the agreement before the project starts. If terminated after work begins, compensation will be required for any completed work.

8. Modifications to Terms

Terms may be updated at any time. Existing clients will be notified of significant changes.
